Air Cadets' New Postwar Program Gets Under Way

This winter the Air Cadets will do more than start boys off on a flying career. A complete new program of group sport, group fun and aerobics is already getting under way, states FO H. Houghton, officer commanding No. 73 Squadron, Coleman.

A basic feature of the new program of group recreation and fun is that every Cadet will actively and equally take part. It will not be a case of a few doing the actual playing while the rest simply stand by and watch. These group activities have been so designed that every boy will be an enthusiastic and active participant in the fun.

It is hoped that as the program develops, teams from the local squadron will compete with teams from other squadrons, eventually leading up to possible inter-provincial competitions.

This new program is so designed as to help every boy attain that all-round physical development which builds the sturdy active bodies and keen alertness necessary for success in aviation and other fields.

Air Cadet squadrons throughout the province are being visited by members of the Alberta committee or Air Cadet liaison officers of the RCAF to fully acquaint local civilian communities and squadron officers with full details of the new program.

Though sports and group recreation will be an important part of the program, maximum attention is still to be given the aeronautical training. This part of the program embraces such things as aircraft recognition; airmanship, including the principles of flight and how these principles are used in the building and operation of planes; engines, covering principles and functions of internal combustion engines, carburation, ignition, lubrication and cooling; air navigation, signals and other such subjects.

So that the Air Cadets can become familiar with RCAF planes and their operation, it is anticipated that the annual summer camps will be continued, with RCAF familiarization flights conducted on a wider and enlarged scale.

For those who want to continue and make flying their careers, complete co-operation has been assured by the RCAF, civilian aviation companies and the aircraft manufacturing industry.

It is anticipated that the RCAF will give preferential consideration to Air Cadets for both permanent and auxiliary squadrons of post-war establishments. Civilian aviation companies are expected to secure many of their post-war fliers and administrators from the ranks of the Air Cadets. And aircraft manufacturing companies have assured their full co-operation to Air Cadets wishing to prepare themselves for the various trades associated with the manufacture of aeroplanes and aerial transport work.

Competitive scholarships and reduced rates are being proposed for those Air Cadets who will want to

JOE KRKOSKY JR MEETS DEATH AT BLAIRMORE

The entire district was shocked yesterday at about noon to learn of the sudden death of Joseph Krkosky Jr in the Blairmore Greenhill mine.

Joe was working with his brother Martin, partner, when a lump of coal hit him on the shoulder, breaking his neck.

Mr. Krkosky is one of the best known miners of the district, having for a number of years held an official position with the UMW. He was also for some years member of Blairmore school board and town council and in all his activities won the esteem of all whom he served.

He is survived by his parents, his wife and child, two brothers and one sister.

"Si" Simonson Passed Away on Mon. Morning

Had Been Ailing For Past Two Years; Served Overseas in 1916-1918; Funeral on Sunday.

The death occurred at the local hospital on Monday morning of Olaf "Si" Simonson, 58, for many years porter at the Empire hotel. Deceased had been in ill health for the past two years and on Sunday morning was admitted to the local hospital, death coming the following day. A few months ago he underwent an operation at Belcher hospital in an effort to enjoy improved health.

Born on March 4, 1886, he came to the States when a young man. He was in Calgary during the early years of the war of 1914-18 and in 1916 he enlisted in the 4th Divisional Ammunition Corps. He went overseas and served in France with the 3rd and 4th Batteries, Canadian Field Artillery, returning to Canada in 1919, when he settled in Coleman.

He worked a short time in one of the local mines, following which he secured employment at the Empire hotel as a porter, a position he held until his death.

Surviving are his mother and brother in Oslo, Norway.

A military funeral will be held on Sunday at 3 p.m. from the local funeral parlors. All members of the Legion are requested to fall in at the Legion hall at 2:30 on Sunday to attend the funeral.

continue with advanced training and secure civilian flying licenses through civilian flying clubs, while the Soaring Association of Canada will make it possible for Air Cadets to receive complete plans and instructions for the building and flying of gliders.

There is only one requirement for boys desiring to participate in this enlarged post-war Air Cadet program. They must be 15 to 18 years of age. They are, of course, expected to be sufficiently interested in aviation to attend parades regularly. In Coleman parades are held Tuesday evenings at 7 p.m. in the high school. Any eligible boy who wants to get in on the fun, and at the same time give wings to his future, is advised to "get crackin'" and get in touch with FO H. Houghton, officer commanding No. 73 Squadron, Coleman.

THE BRITISH SUBMARINE "TRESPASSER" COMES HOME

The British submarine, "Trespasser," has recently returned home for the first time since March of 1943, after her first commission during which she steamed 50,000 miles. Following an uneventful patrol in Norwegian waters, she took part in the invasion of Sicily. From there she sailed to the Far East, where she sank two Japanese supply ships and had a narrow escape in a minefield. During the whole commission The Trespasser never once broke down. Picture shows the sub, nearer camera, alongside a depot ship.

Council Sets Up Permanent Air Committee; Will Investigate Feasibility of Piping Drinking Water From Cave at Crows Nest Lake

To Experiment With Boulevarding Part of Second Street; Grand Union Given Lease on Lot Near Skating Rink; CBC Engineer to Inspect Territory.

Regular meeting of the council was held on Tuesday evening. Present Mayor Antrobus, Councillors Abousafy, Cox, Dutil, Jenkins and Ramsay.

Frank DeCocco was present to straighten out a minor difficulty regarding tax payments. Secretary was instructed to check the receipts and if payment had been made twice on the property in question to refund the overpayment.

L. S. Richards was present to request council to lease lot 18 near the skating arena to the Calgary Brewing Co. The lot would be used by the Grand Union hotel as a disposal field, the town maintaining the privilege of using the surface rights of the lot. After some discussion council agreed to rent the lot to the company at a fee equal to the yearly taxation revenue which could be derived from the lot. The lot will be rented to the company until such time as a sewerage system is installed in Coleman. Should the nearby water holes become contaminated due to the seepage from this lot, the company will undertake at its own expense the work of connecting the homes, whose drinking water is contaminated by the sewerage, to the water main of the town.

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation advised council that one of its engineers will visit Coleman in regards to the "booster" which council is agitating should be installed here to improve radio reception.

A letter was received from Coleman Curling Club asking council to sanction the installation of light and water services at the new curling arena. It was agreed that action to have these services installed as quickly as possible would be taken.

A committee of three was appointed to study the Workmen's Compensation Act to find out whether or not workers at the new curling arena could be protected. The workers are prepared to pay the necessary premium.

The Sports Association advised council that it was prepared to pay half the cost of repairs made to the open air skating rink.

Councillors Ramsay and Cox were appointed to manage the open air rink this winter.

Concrete steps were authorized to be made from St. Alban's church to Fifth street. A few concrete steps will be made within the next week or two close by the church in order to experiment and find out whether they are satisfactory during cold icy weather or whether they might be too dangerous for walking.

Town Foreman Joe Malanchuk was given permission to tear down the town sign at the foot of Cardonald hill.

The path leading from the hospital to Second street east is to be cleaned up.

One of the Red Cross groups asked council's permission to operate an electric sewing machine in the town hall twice monthly. It appears complaints had been received regarding the machine interfering with radio reception. Permission was granted, council taking the stand that since the machine was only in operation approximately two hours each evening and the work was essential to the war effort it was only fair the ladies be encouraged in their fine work.

Councillor Abousafy urged that the town start boulevarding the streets and that the stretch from the United church to the town hall be started this fall or early spring as an experiment. Town foreman was authorized to get the ground ready for seeding to grass.

Mayor Antrobus brought up the proposal to have government engineers brought to Coleman and study the feasibility of piping drinking water from the Cave at Crows' Nest Lake to Coleman and possibly other Pass towns which wished to take part in the project, thus ensuring an all the year round pure water supply. A letter is to be sent to the department of public works, asking that engineers be sent here to study the plan.

Councillor Abousafy gave an interesting and detailed report on the recent aviation conference held at Calgary. He advocated that a committee be appointed to deal with affairs pertaining to the Coleman air field and that the provincial government be asked to make improvements to the road leading to the field. Councillors Abousafy, Dutil and Ramsay were appointed to the committee by Mayor Antrobus.

LORNEY CAROE SENDS HOME THE IRON CROSS

Mrs. L. A. Caroe is in receipt of a unique present from her son, Driver Lorne Caroe, in the form of an iron cross, one of the high decorations awarded Nazi heroes by the enemy high command.

According to veterans of the last war who have inspected the medal, it is the Iron Cross second class. It is thought to be made of silver and in addition to the cross it has two swords attached in the form of a cross with the Swastika prominently displayed in the centre of the medal.

A pal of Lorney's found two of the medals in the abandoned headquarters of the Nazi Commander Kesseling in Italy and one of the medals has finally found its way to Coleman.

Ration Book To Be Distributed Mon. and Tues.

At Antrobus' Office From 10-12 Noon, 2-5 and 7-9 p.m.

Ration Book 5 will be distributed locally at Antrobus' office on main street on Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 16 and 17. Mrs. Antrobus, through the courtesy of Principal Hoyle, will have a staff of high school students to aid her in the distribution.

The hours of distribution will be from 10 to 12 noon, 2 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m.

The work of the girls can be greatly facilitated if citizens will read carefully the following instructions issued from provincial headquarters. Please carry out the instructions carefully. By doing this work before entering the distributing office the issuing of new books can be carried out much more quickly.

Alberta's 54 local ration boards have enlisted around 5,000 volunteers to distribute Ration Book 5 from 700 distributing centres during ration book week, Oct. 14 to 21. Watch for weekly newspaper advertisements announcing the distribution centre in each community and specific date of distribution.

Read These Instructions
To obtain Ration Book 5, fill in the K coupon sheet at the back of Ration Book 4, printing your name, address, prefix letter and serial number of your book. The age of children under 16 should be recorded beside the name.

Do not detach the K coupon sheet, but present Ration Book 4 intact to your distribution centre, to obtain Ration Book 5.

One adult member of a family or community may obtain new ration books for the family or neighbors providing the required information is recorded in Ration Book 4.

One copy of a pamphlet entitled "What Now in Rationing," will be given to each family.

Those who neglect to pick up new ration books during distribution dates will have to wait until Nov. 6.

Pink covered Ration Book 5 is designed to last 50 weeks and contains 11 sheets of coupons with 25 coupons per sheet instead of the former 16.

RECEPTION

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Smith will have a reception in honor of their son and his bride, Lieut. and Mrs. Ian Smith, nee Muriel Bowling, at their Sixth street home on Saturday, Oct. 14, from the hours of 6 to 9 p.m. All friends and acquaintances are asked to accept this invitation to attend.

Lend to the utmost.

CURFEW

Children should take heed that the Curfew Bell for Fall and Winter months will ring each evening at 9 o'clock. Parents are advised to warn their children not to frequent the Main Streets after the curfew bell has rung.

WM. ANTLE, Chief of Police.

Workers At Curling Arena Loosing Tools

Appeal For Return of Tools; Loss Hampers Construction.

An appeal to the sportsmanship of certain citizens is being made by the curling club executive this week.

As every local citizen knows, a new curling arena is being erected at the present time. The work is being done on a purely voluntary basis and workers are also supplying their own tools. The men are working till dark each evening and on occasion some tools are inadvertently left around the building. Some persons are frequenting the property in the early mornings and lifting the tools lying on the ground and taking them home. Saws, hammers, files, wrenches, etc., are being pilfered, much to the detriment of the workers, not forgetting the loss to individual workers who own the tools.

In appealing to the sense of sportsmanship of the guilty persons, the executive asks those citizens to realize the magnitude of the project and the fact that all of the work is being done by voluntary labor. These tools are urgently needed, and there is no good reason for stealing them. In addition, the arena will soon be one of the town's major assets. PLEASE RETURN THE TOOLS.

If youngsters are guilty, an appeal is made to parents to have the tools returned immediately.

579 Students Attending Local Schools

Grades Four and Ten Are a Little Crowded; Delay in Delivery of Textbooks Causes a Little Delay.

Teachers and students are once again getting back into the regular routine after the rush and confusion of the opening days. Principal Hoyle has furnished The Journal with a report of the students attending the three local schools and the difficulty encountered by overcrowding in certain classes.

His report is as follows:

Student Enrollment
Primary (grades 1, 2, 3) 126
Elementary (grades 4, 5, 6) 108
Intermediate (grades 7, 8, 9) 173
High school (grades 10, 11, 12) 73
Total Central School 480
Total West Coleman 99
Total students attending 579

Owing to overcrowding in the grade 4 room at the Central school it has been necessary to transfer six pupils to West Coleman. It should be noted here that these pupils have been transferred from a room with an attendance of 42 to a room with a previous attendance of 16.

In the High School there is only one grade where the number of students is sufficient to crowd the room. This is in grade 10, where some of the classes (Social Studies 1 for example) have an attendance of 42.

Delay in delivery of textbooks to local stores and to school office is causing a little difficulty in getting away to a good start.

GRAND UNION TO HAVE NEW DISPOSAL SYSTEM

The Grand Union hotel, through contractor Joe D'Appolina, started work Wednesday morning on its new disposal system. Lot 18, nearby the skating arena, was secured from the council on Tuesday evening. The project will cost in the neighborhood of $800, but will eliminate the agitation that has been carried on by a number of citizens against the old system, which was unsanitary.

Solved Problem

Salvation Army Found Means of Assisting A Chinese Gentleman

(By J. Clinton Paccott)

Salvation Army officers are accustomed to strange requests. One day an old Chinese gentleman called on one and said: "You are an officer in the Save World Army" (literal translation of the Army's name in China). "Yes," said the officer. "You save people," queried the old gentleman. "Yes," said the officer. "You save anybody," was the next question, and the answer was still in the affirmative. "Can you save dogs?" was the next startling question, and though puzzled as to where this was leading him, the officer again answered "Yes."

"Well," said the old gentleman, beaming. "You are the people I want," then he went on to explain that in the Concession the police rounded up stray dogs and impounded them, if these dogs were not redeemed at the cost of a dollar each within a certain time they were destroyed. "Now," said the old gentleman, "I am a Buddhist, and the destruction of animal life is abhorrent to me, so I redeem as many dogs as I can, but I don't know what to do with them. Sometimes I just let them loose, hoping they will find their way home, but then they are caught and impounded again and I must redeem them once more. Now you can help me to save these dogs."

For a minute the Salvationist was nonplussed, but then remembered the hundreds of farmers who with their families had fled to his city from the worn town country side. Their beasts and dogs had been destroyed by the invading armies. Through the winter they had stayed in Salvation Army refuge camps, but now the spring was coming and they were anxious to get back to their land, surely they would like to take some dogs with them. This proved to be the case, and no matter how many dogs the old Buddhist redeemed from the place, the farmers were glad to take them!

Another problem was solved to the mutual joy of Buddhist, farmers, police and even the dogs! That was not all, the old gentleman influenced many of his friends to make donations to the Army's work for refugees, so in that Chinese city thousands of dollars were received for that "Home Front".

DIGGING POTATOES

The potato, like all other vegetable crops, should be handled carefully in harvesting to prevent mechanical injury. Digging by means of a four-tined fork is still done in small areas. One good man can dig about half an acre a day, while the mechanical digger can lift from three to five acres in the same time.

The tea drinking habit was largely responsible for the development of fine English porcelain. 2589

Train Orders By Radio

Taking a hint from the practice of tank units of the Allied armies at the front, the Canadian National Railways, in co-operation with the Canadian Marconi Company, is conducting a series of tests of radio communication between signal towers and trains in operation. The idea is to eliminate written train orders and signals, speed up train movements and effect greater operating economy and efficiency.

Two Canadian National locomotives, a Diesel and an electric, operating in the electrified area of the Montreal Terminals, have been equipped with transmitting and receiving equipment and for several weeks their engineers will proceed in and out of the busy terminal on instructions received by radio.

The photographs show equipment in use on one of the trains and workmen putting the antenna in position on top of the C.N.R. lift bridge which crosses the Lachine Canal. The tip of the antenna is 175 feet above the ground. Fifty-watt transmitters are being used for the tests. They operate on ultra short wave, frequency modulation, giving freedom from static and other interference, and have a range of 20 miles.

This first introduction of radio into Canadian railroading recalls the fact that more than 20 years ago, the National System was the first railroad in America to provide radio for its passengers and owned and operated a coast-to-coast broadcasting chain.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

OCTOBER 15

JESUS' UNDERSTANDING OF MAN

Golden text: He needed not that any one should bear witness concerning him; for he himself knew what was in man. John 2:25.
Lesson: Genesis 1:27; Psalm 8; Matthew 12:9-21.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 8.

Explanations and Comments

Man Created in the Image of God, Genesis 1:27.

What is Man, that Thou Art Mindful of him? Psalm 8.

How Jesus Values Man, Matthew 12:9-21. After recording the disciples' plucking of corn on the Sabbath, and Jesus' defense of their act by asserting that ceremonial law must be subservient to human needs, Matthew records another instance of Sabbath controversy which, according to Luke, took place on another Sabbath. In the synagogue to which Jesus and his disciples went there was a man having a withered hand. "In the so-called Gospel of the Hebrews (65-100 A.D.), the man with the withered hand is described as a mason, who begged help from Jesus, saying, 'I was a mason earning my living with my hands. I pray thee, Jesus, restore me my health, that I may not disgracefully beg my bread.'" (One Volume Commentary). Jesus' enemies, on the lookout for some excuse for accusing him to the authorities, asked him if it were lawful to heal on the Sabbath day. Would they not rescue a sheep that had fallen into a pit on the Sabbath, and was not man of more value than a sheep? Jesus questioned in return. A righteous man regardeth the life of his beast, Prov. 12:10. Then Jesus affirmed that it is lawful to do good on the Sabbath day. Jesus restored strength to the man's useless hand and at once the Pharisees left to consider how they could accomplish Jesus' death.

A Portrait of the Christ, Matthew 12:15-21. Jesus perceived the plans of the Pharisees and left the place. Many people he healed but charged them not to advertise the healings, for a popular clamor was dangerous. Here Matthew recalls Isaiah 42:19 as illustrated by Jesus' avoidance of popular acclaim and quotes the whole passage, verse 18-21, as fulfilled by Jesus. "It is a free translation from the Hebrews, with occasional correspondence with the Septuagint. It curiously omits the words, 'He shall not fail nor be discouraged, till he have set judgment on the earth,' which would have been very applicable to our Lord in connection with the discourses which had just begun." (One Volume Commentary).

Importing Dogs

Government Has Placed Restrictions On Dogs From U.S.

Restrictions in the importation into Canada of dogs from the United States have been tightened by a recent Agricultural Department order, customs officials said.

The order requires examination of a dog by a veterinary and the issuance of a certificate stating the animal to be disease-free and also stating that there is no case of rabies within 50 miles of the place where the dog has been kept for the previous six months. The regulation applies to dogs from all parts of the United States.

Civilians Can Help Wounded Men To Regain Normal Life

The ordeal of men who have been wounded in active service does not end when they are lifted out of their crippled planes, carried off the field of battle or from their ship's shelled deck. If the wounds are serious, they mean just the end of one type of combat and the beginning of another. The second, the struggle to regain health and strength, and a normal outlook on life again is sometimes the hardest of all for the hitherto very active individual, suddenly deprived of that active role and often faced with new handicaps to which he must become adjusted.

The personnel of military, naval and air force hospitals know well how very tough this fight can be, and how it often requires all the spiritual, mental and physical strength a man possesses. They know, too, how important a part civilians can play in this struggle. One of the first things that civilians are called on to do, and perhaps one of the most important of all, is to extend to wounded men just the plain ordinary courtesy that any well-bred person observes in regard to any other stranger or to a friend facing difficulties.

"Don't stare" and "Don't ask questions" are two appeals which have been voiced by veterans in a hospital in Washington, D.C., who are fighting for a return to normal civilian life after losing an arm or a leg in combat overseas. The appeal has been given widespread publicity through the New York Times.

Disabled soldiers who have spent months learning how to use artificial limbs dread their first contact with the public because of the attention and questions they expect. Staff Sgt. Robert K. Yandell reported. The sergeant, who lost a leg in the First World War, is stationed at the hospital as an instructor of men similarly disabled.

A convalescent who lost his left arm in Italy told Sergeant Yandell that there are three kinds of people as far as veterans in his predicament were concerned:

First, those intelligent enough not to stare and ask questions.

Second, those who mean well and would like to do something for us, but always say and do the wrong things, such as offering pity and sympathy. They just don't stop and think.

Last are the long-nosed gossip type. They ask fool questions, try to pry into our private lives for a story they can tell to anyone who will listen. They are the worst of all.

The Yankee Doodle song was taken from an old Dutch harvest song.

Speech Therapy

Treating Flying Men Who Have Suffered From Facial Injuries

Eagerly welcomed by the Royal Air Force as a contribution toward the rehabilitation of flying men with facial injuries who have virtually to be taught to speak again, the first recorded color film of the tongue movements has been made by a physiologist, J. Y. Bogue, and an R.A.F. research man, Dennis Fry, to obtain the film, the authors secured the co-operation of a Londoner, aged 72, whose tongue was exposed to view as the result of an operation involving the removal of the right cheek. An article describing this process appeared in "Endeavour," published by the Imperial Chemical Industries.

The film record of the tongue movement is accompanied by a sound track. The shots taken are intended for analysis in conjunction with a cathode ray oscillogram of the speech sounds taken at the same time. Such an analysis prognosticates rapid advance in the field of speech therapy.

Work Of R.A.F.

How They Struck At Radio Stations In Belgium

Within hours of "D" day R.A.F. rocket-firing Typhoons struck at every radio station from Brast to Belgium. The enemy's system of warning, devised against invasion day, was thrown into confusion, and the Allies achieved a great measure of surprise during initial landings. The second task allocated to the R.A.F. immediately before invasion was the silencing of ten coastal batteries within the immediate vicinity of the beachheads.

A force of 1,000 R.A.F. bombers dropped a load of 5,000 tons of bombs. Practically all the batteries were accounted for and the odd one or two which were able to fire were silenced by the guns of the Fleet.

ORDERS FROM FATHER

Navajo Indian Judge Many Children of Gallup, New Mexico, received notice that a son has been wounded in action. He sent him this message: "If you are wounded in the leg and can't march, you should tell the army and come home. If you are not wounded in the leg, get up pronto and shoot some more Japs."

Trial By Fire

By FAYE MCGOVERN

The captain of the American freighter spoke grimly. "This cargo of food and medical supplies must reach Shin Lee. The entire province has been isolated by the enemy. Famine and disease are imminent. It's up to you, Stacy, to contact Mr. Mu—and no one else! Understand? He's the only man we dare trust. This port is crawling with spies who will stop at nothing to get this material for themselves. Now, what is it you are to do?"

"Go to the Copper Kettle," replied First Mate Stacy. "Order a cup of American tea to identify myself, and wait for Mr. Mu."

The captain nodded. "Those were Mr. Mu's instructions. And the password?"

"Checkmate." A few moments later, clad as an inconspicuous tourist, Stacy made his way up a filthy street to where a tarnished copper kettle swung gently above a narrow, forbidding doorway. Orders were given, but why the dickens did he have to be the goat? It wasn't his war. He ducked into the shadowy interior and seated himself glumly at a small, lacquered table. Instantly a Chinese servant stood beside him.

"American tea," Stacy said shortly. The Chinese bowed and vanished behind a sleazy curtain. Stacy glanced warily around, found himself completely alone. To all outward appearances it was just another shore town. Doubtless merely a front for opium dens beyond. A sweet penetrating odor offended his nostrils. He frowned, then shrugged, drumming his fingers impatiently. Opium or incense, what difference did it make? Where was Mr. Mu?

The Chinese returned, set a steaming cup before him, bowed, and disappeared again. Stacy looked at the amber liquid with distaste. He hated tea. He glanced up as the curtain stirred, just in time to see a sinister, mummy-like face swiftly withdrawing.

Stacy's scalp prickled. Holy cow! He was being watched. Better be careful. No telling who the fellow might be.

He took a gulp of tea, and made a wry face. "American tea, my eye!" he thought. The sweet-scented atmosphere seemed to thicken. He fought off a feeling of suffocation. His fingers felt nerveless. The cup slipped, banged on its edge and spilled. Hang the incense! His head was reeling.

When consciousness returned, Stacy thought for a groggy moment he was in his bunk aboard ship, awakening from a bad dream. He tried to move, and couldn't. He was bound hand and foot, face up, on some sort of a bamboo rack. He could see nothing but a damp clay ceiling and walls, lighted dimly by flickering candles. An underground room, he conjectured. He tried to raise his head and found that a band of cloth across his forehead made it impossible.

Suddenly the evil face of the curtains appeared above him. Stacy was startled first, then furious. He opened his mouth to demand an explanation, then snapped it shut. He wouldn't give the enemy satisfaction.

"Where is the American cargo to be landed?" The voice was menacing.

Stacy coldly returned the man's stare.

"The American does not wish to talk?" The face moved out of sight. "What a pity!"

Something brushed against Stacy's feet. A single leashed through him. They were bare!

The man spoke near his feet, his voice only with insinuation. "The enemies of China have ingenious means of persuading the most reluctant. Perhaps this—"

Stacy's instep was seared by something hot. Torture! Cold sweat broke out on his brow. He clenched his fists.

"Perhaps the other foot," the voice purred.

Stacy caught his breath. "Go ahead, you slant-eyed mummy!" he thought bitterly. "Main me for life. Cripple me. Burn my feet off. You'll get nothing out of me! Not while women and children are—ohhh!"

A line of fire crisscrossed his soles. Again, and again. His fingernails cut deep into his palms. Every nerve in his body shrieked. Through pained eyes he thought he saw snakes rising—he clamped his eyes, gritted his teeth, and tensed himself for more. But instead, miraculously, he felt something cool smeared over his soles. Then fingers worked at his soles, fumbling in their haste.

Stacy struggled to sit up, furious. "Thought you could make me talk, eh?" He yanked the cloth from his forehead. "Burn my feet off, will you?"

His torturer backed away. "The human imagination is a potent force," he protested. "I assure you, the burns are merely superficial." "Never mind the verbal salve!" Stacy roared. "I saw smoke!" "Dry ice vaporizes."

"Dry ice!"

The man folded his hands humbly. "You will forgive a foolish old man, he pleaded. "We dare take no chances. Our people in Shin Lee Province must not perish because of our carelessness. We had to prove, in our own way, your worthiness to share our secrets. Had you 'squealed' to us, so might you also have capitulated to the enemy. Is it not so?"

Stacy's eyes narrowed. "Say who the devil are you?"

The parchment-like face softened. "With humility and pride I make myself known to you, courageous sir, Checkmate!"

Stacy swept the gaunt figure with belligerent eyes—unconvinced—then stared, appalled, at the man's feet. They were mere stumps, bound round and round with cloth. Something more than dry ice had been used there. Yet this man still dared defy his enemies.

Stacy gulped, grinned sheepily, and extended an apologetic hand. "The humility is all mine, Mr. Mu. Where do we go from here?"

Rescued Honors

Former Physician To The Late King George Is Dead

Sir Humphrey Rolleston, 82, formerly physician to King George V and one of the most prominent British medical men of the last half-century, died at his home in Surrey, after an illness of one year.

His honors were international, among them being Consultant of the Army Medical Library, Washington, D.M.G.C., Officer of the Legion of Honor, chairman of the British X-ray and Radium Protection Committee, Honorary Fellow of the Association of American Physicians and president of the Royal College of Physicians.

During the First World War he was consultant physician to the Royal Navy, a member of the Medical Administrative Committee and a consultant to the Royal Air Force.

ENERGY FOOD

From the time the baby gets that first spoonful of solid food until the day the trunk is packed for college, cereal constituted a good part of the daily diet. Toddlers get cereal night and morning. As school children it's their energy-starter for the day. Even in their teen years they find it a good filler-upper, both at meals and in between.

Most youngsters like cereals and a lucky thing it is! Topped with either cream or milk, the morning cereal, either hot or cold, is a fine source of energy. Cereals combined with milk provide a good supply of those nutrients that children need for growth.

These cereals are smart in cooking, too. Take the matter of cookies. How the youngsters love them! Even cookies should offer food value plus flavor. Honey Krisp Cookies do both for they're made with pure country honey and crisp rice cereal.

Honey Krisp Cookies

1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup honey
2 eggs
1/2 cup sour cream
1 1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 cup chopped nut meats
1/2 cup chopped dates
1/2 teaspoon vanilla OR
1 teaspoon nutmeg extract
1 cup crisp rice cereal

Blend shortening and honey. Add well-beaten eggs and cream. Sift flour with baking powder, salt and soda; add to first mixture. Stir in nut meats, dates, flavoring and cereal. Drop from a dessert spoon onto lightly greased baking sheet and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 20 minutes.

Yield: Two dozen cookies (4 inches in diameter).

The Third Reich

Is Now Prostrate At The Feet Of Its Enemies

Nothing could express world opinion better than a short paragraph from Sweden's "Goeteborgs Posten" of September 10th. This paper from a persistently neutral country wrote:

"The Third Reich is no longer able to seize the throats of its neighbors. It will soon be lying at the feet of its enemies. The road home for German occupation troops from the Balkans will certainly pass through Allied prison-camps. Now the battle for Germany has begun. The tramp of vast Allied armies is echoing along the German Frontiers. Wherever Hitler may look from his demolished workshop he sees nothing but fleeing or defeated armies. With large forces practically isolated in the Balkans, the Baltic States, Norway, Finland and Norway, with many divisions in danger in Holland, Denmark and Northern Italy, Germany's position is much more desperate than at the time of the Armistice in 1918. There can be no doubt as to the outcome of the war. What experience have the German people of Guerrilla warfare? Do the Germans believe they can imitate the feats of the oppressed peoples of France, Norway, Denmark, Poland and Yugoslavia? It is not surprising that many races and nations who for more than five years have been labouring under the Nazi yoke witness Germany's predicament without feeling any sympathy or mercy."

This short statement of Swedish opinion needs no elaboration. It is clear and to the point. For the Swedes, Germany is on her back. Everyone else will agree with Sweden.

Spies Executed

Britain's Public Prosecutor Has Been Busy During The War

The man who brought Hitler's spies in Britain to justice—16 have been executed so far—is retiring at the age of 66.

He is Sir Edward Hale Tindal Atkinson, Public Prosecutor for the last 11 years. During this war, he has been one of the busiest men in Britain.

I asked Sir Edward whether he expected to continue in office long enough to be able to deal with the radio traitors, those British subjects who have broadcast for the enemy. "No," he said. "That may be a job for my successor. I am going quite soon, on account of the age limit."

"My successor may also have a busy time over the war criminals, but I don't know what machinery will be set up for dealing with them."

"Do I regret going before the war criminals are brought to book? Yes, I think I do. They would certainly be most interesting cases."—London Daily Mail

Troop Entertainment

Concert And Theatrical Parties Are Following The Armies

The military authorities have now given permission for E.N.S.A. concert and theatrical parties to go well forward and to follow in the wake of the advancing armies. Consequently, men coming out of the line to rest are able within a few hours to enjoy the greatly varied entertainment now provided by these mobile columns of artists.

There are now 20 E.N.S.A. parties in France, organized into 12 mobile columns. All the parties, supported by well-known performers as guest artists, are taken well forward and give at least two—some have given as many as four—performances a day. The women sleep in vans, the men in tents, and all have Army rations. After three weeks behind the forward lines they go back for short periods of rest hotels at Army headquarters.

Behind the mobile entertainers, there will be performances of both vaudeville and plays in the larger theatres as they become available. Already three garrison cinemas have been opened and new films are shown simultaneously with their showing in London. Arrangements have also been made, in co-operation with the Civil Affairs Branch, for the exhibition of films in these cinemas to the civil population.

Authority has now been given to E.N.S.A. to double its forces in the Far East. Artists are already being asked to consider spending next Christmas with the troops in Burma.

CO-OP BUYS CUSHING MILL

The Saskatchewan Co-operative Wholesale Society has purchased the Cushing Mill at Tenth Avenue and Duchess Street, Saskatoon. A portion of the old wood-working mill will be converted into a feed manufacturing plant and the balance, until the company's present plans for expansion fully materialize, will be used for storage. The Cushing plant has been closed for a period of ten years.

WARTIME NURSERIES

In England and Wales there are now 1,500 wartime day nurseries where babies are cared for while their mothers are busy with various kinds of war work. The Minister of Health has decided that no further nurseries are needed.

Nothing Missing

Germans Did Not Carry Away Art Treasure Of France

All of France's art treasures, including the famous "Venus de Milo" and Leonardo da Vinci's "Mona Lisa", of the Louvre, are safe and in good condition, it has been learned authoritatively states the New York Herald Tribune. For whatever reason, the Germans left the treasures of the Louvre and most of France's great chateau museums behind them in their hurried retreat from France. Not a single painting or sculptural work of national importance is missing. It was stated by Second Lieutenant James J. Rortner, of the art and monuments division of the American Army's civil affairs section.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

"A GUEST EDITORIAL"

(By a Coleman Citizen)

Victory is Near

Just as the autumn leaves are a sign that winter is nigh, so are controversies between peoples as to who is winning the war signs that victory is near. However, there is quite a difference between the two. (1) We are always sure that the leaves will fall and winter will come, but we are not sure of victory until the war is over and conditions have settled down for good. (2) In place of leaves falling to herald the coming of winter, young men of many nations must fall to herald the coming of victory, and we should not be so prone as to what nation is doing the most to win. God knows, it took all the United Nations' strength to make victory more certain.

Yet, we have met men who think, and are willing to prove, that Canadians are winning the war. Others say the Russians, and if you wish to cross the line to the United States you are very likely to meet many who scoff at the idea that there is any other nation contributing in a large degree to winning the war.

We haven't talked to Frenchmen, Poles, Slavs or Greeks yet, but if they are also struck with the same epidemic as some of our Canadians and Americans, this continent certainly needs psycho-analysts by the score.

We are admitting the Americans, Russians and Canadians are doing a marvelous job and who can deny the part Britain played in this struggle. Their stand against one of the worst enemies of mankind, alone almost for two years, is sufficient to earn them the gratitude of all thinking free men of the world.

All this means nothing if there was no fear of another war. We and our American friends, or cousins if you wish, operate governments of democratic principles and therefore are as weak as the majority. We wonder if, after the last war, public opinion did not destroy the peace and brought on this present war by the same methods of thinking. Conceit is very detrimental to sound judgment. We believe public opinion destroyed President Wilson's dream of a world court and peace move. Will public opinion again tie the hands of those leaders who have taken us through thick and thin and brought us to where we are today? Memory is short and we are apt to forget the anxiety of the bad days of this struggle. We are apt to wax fat in our victories unless we are reminded often that this thing could happen again and we may not be so lucky next time. What will the future generations say of us if we were to repeat the same error made after the last war and allow other nations to try and force their will on us by another war?

Let us now resolve to stick together, no matter which nation is winning the war. Let us deal fairly and squarely with all at no expense to the other. Let us form a world court with a final say, backed by all United Nations, contributing to the saving of our civilization.

Coleman Wants Fish Hatchery

Within the area of the Crows' Nest Pass there lies a sportsman's paradise. Lack of shells and gasoline has greatly aided wild life and fishing and as a result their numbers have multiplied greatly. It was only a year ago that we, along with few local sportsmen, agitated for a game and fish warden to look after the interests of fish and game in this area against poachers and poor sports. Our aim could have been achieved had their been someone available to take the lead and maintain the fight. As it was, however, agitation was allowed to die a natural death and illegal fishing and hunting were allowed to prevail.

Council has now interested itself in maintaining trout in Pass streams in plentiful numbers and is entering into negotiation with the Fisheries Department with the object of establishing a fish hatchery here in Coleman. The support of all fishermen should be behind council's efforts.

The War Service Gratuity and Re-establishment Credit—

OTHER ASSISTANCE AFTER DISCHARGE

The Canadian re-establishment program gives discharged members of the services assistance under a wide variety of measures during the period when they are deciding their future as civilians.

THE WAR SERVICE GRATUITY

This became law at the last session of Parliament, and provides, after discharge, monthly payments to those honorably discharged, who enlisted for service anywhere, and to those who saw service in the Aleutian Islands, for their period of service there. It provides a basic gratuity of $7.50 for each 30 days' service in the Western Hemisphere and $15.00 for each 30 days' service overseas. A supplementary gratuity of seven days' pay and allowances, with Canadian sub-sistence allowance, is paid for each six months' overseas service. Service in Greenland, Iceland, the Aleutian Islands and any other theatre of war is overseas service. Other places in the Western Hemisphere are not. Aircrew, flying outside the Canadian waters, or stationed outside Canada or the United States, and Naval personnel in sea-going ships of war are regarded as overseas service.

Monthly payments not exceeding monthly pay and allowances last received will start after January 1, 1945, unless the Act is proclaimed earlier.

RE-ESTABLISHMENT CREDIT

A re-establishment credit, equal to the basic gratuity shown above, and not including the supplementary one is available in the 10 years following discharge for constructive purposes such as purchase of a home, business, furniture or tools, or payment of premiums under Government life insurance. It can also be used for modernizing or repairing a home, for working capital of a business and other similar purposes. The re-establishment credit is reduced by any grants paid while training or continuing education, or by grants paid under the Veterans' Land Act. Training, education and Veterans' Land Act grants cannot be paid if the re-establishment credit is used, unless an adjustment is made.

AT DISCHARGE

At discharge every man and woman is advised of the re-establishment program, is given a complete medical and dental examination, and may receive free treatment for any condition shown by the examination, in the year following discharge. They are allowed to retain one uniform and certain other service clothing. All discharged since August 1, 1944, receive a $100 civilian clothing allowance and if they have 183 days' service and receive an honorable discharge, a rehabilitation grant of 30 days' pay and one month's dependents allowance. They also receive a railway warrant to their home or place of enlistment.

AFTER DISCHARGE

Service personnel seeking employment apply through Employment and Selective Service, but in many offices they will find Veterans' Welfare Officers and other specially trained staff ready to assist them. Veterans who wish to return to their former civilian positions are entitled to reinstatement in that position, if the job still exists, if they are capable of filling it, and if application is made within three months of discharge. Under the law of Canada every ex-service man or woman with overseas service, or disability pensioners, receive preference in Civil Service appointments if qualified for the position for which they apply.

VETERANS' WELFARE OFFICERS ARE STATIONED IN KEY CENTRES THROUGHOUT CANADA. THEY ADVISE AND ASSIST EX-SERVICE PERSONNEL, AND SHOULD BE CONSULTED ON ALL PROBLEMS.

Campaign To Secure Men From The Farms For Winter Jobs

National Selective Service is opening a campaign to secure over 100,000 men from the farms for work in other essential industries during the fall and winter months, it was announced today by Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, minister of labor.

While care will be taken not to encourage men to leave dairy or livestock farms, where they are needed during the winter, the effort will be to secure men for vacancies in other industries just as soon as the fall work is completed. The largest group of the farm workers will be asked to take work in the woods on cutting sawlogs, pulpwood cutting and other forest operations. It is estimated that at least 60,000 men will be required in the woods for the fall and winter.

Meetings are being held across Canada by officers of National Selective Service with provincial officers to lay plans for locating the men needed and transfer them to the jobs. The Dominion-Provincial farm labor agreements under which several thousands of men were secured for the farming industry for seeding and harvesting operations, also provide for the transfer of men from the farms during the slack months for employment in other essential industries.

Recruiting of the men for woods operations will start about October

1 in Quebec and Ontario, while in the western provinces the campaign will not be pushed until threshing is nearing completion. In the Maritime provinces, as soon as the potato and apple crops have been harvested, efforts will be made to secure the men from the farms.

Meat packing plants, base metal mines, foundries, coal mines, shell filling and heavy ammunition, railway track maintenance work, construction and feed and flour milling are all included in the industries requiring men from the farms during the winter time, in addition, of course, to woods work.

In Ontario the recruiting of farm workers for the meat packing plants is already under way.

In commenting upon the campaign, the labor minister said: "Last year and the year before the labor supply situation was eased very substantially by the help we got from farm workers during the fall and winter. Last winter we secured over 100,000 men from the farms, and this year we will need even more."

Pointing out that young farmers on postponement of military training would be given a continuance of their postmilitary while in other essential work during their slack season, Hon. Mr. Mitchell continued: "Men will, of course, be free to return to the land whenever their services are again needed there. Actually, the work which awaits the farmers in other industries during the off-season is of vital importance to the farmers themselves. In part, it involves the processing of their own products, as in meat packing and feed and flour milling. In part, also, it ensures supplies that the farmers themselves must have. Generally, the work for which the farmers are now needed is vital to Canada's welfare and our war effort at this time."

The labor minister further predicted that whatever the course of the war in Europe, the quota of workers from the farms will still be urgently necessary for Canadian industries.

GET YOUR HOCKEY CLUBS ORGANIZED

The executive of Coleman Community Sports Association held a meeting last Sunday evening, at which time it was decided to encourage hockey managers to start organizing their respective clubs for the forthcoming season.

Within a few short weeks the Association will be issuing a call for the names, etc., of all players on the various teams. Managers are asked to prepare this information and have it ready to submit to the Association when it is required.

Theatre Notes

"A Lady Takes a Chance" Gay, Romantic Romp. It's easy to predict plenty of attendance for "A Lady Takes a Chance," with the cuddlesome Miss Arthur and the husky John Wayne co-starring in the sprightliest and most romantic comedy to come this way in a long, long time.

It's all about a New York bank clerk who finds that her cherished dream of making a 17-day all-expenses-paid bus trip to the Pacific Coast and back isn't what it's cracked up to be—at least until she reaches Oregon and a bucking broncho hurls a tall rodeo rider on top of her and knocks her flat. The rider, by way of apology, shows her the sights of Fairfield. She misses her bus, quarrels with her bewildered new acquaintance, haphazard across a lot of desert and has varied and hilarious experiences that will delight everybody right up to the sparkling ending.

Petty Officer Jack Burns, of Vancouver, spent two days' furlough with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. I. James, this week. He was accompanied as far east as Frontier, Sask., by his grandmother, Mrs. M. Burns, who will visit her son John and wife, after visiting Mr. and Mrs. James for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Rogers have as their guest this week the latter's sister, Mrs. Robert Simpson, of Detroit. It is the first time in nineteen years since the two sisters have met and there was a happy re-union at the Macleod CPR depot last Thursday evening, where Mr. and Mrs. Rogers and Helen had travelled to meet their guest. After visiting here, Mrs. Simpson will spend a holiday with another sister, Mrs. Smith, at Drumheller.

Pte. Johnny Raymond, who has been overseas for several years, was last reported in New York city and is expected to reach Calgary soon. His wife residing here expect him to visit Coleman a few days after his arrival in the city.

Wounded Veterans Staff C.P.R. Hospital Cars

Assigned to regular hospital car service by the Canadian Pacific Railway these four porters, standing in front of the ever-changing map of the Battle of Europe in the Windsor Station at Montreal, have a record of 22 years of service and wounds from seven actions in two wars. Left to right the four who have the bond of a common experience with the wounded servicemen they look after on the coast-to-coast runs of hospital trains are Jean Napoleon Maurice, Montreal, wounded at Dieppe and in Italy; James E. Thompson, Montreal, casualty of the London Blitz; R. Winslow, Montreal, wounded at Vimy Ridge and Amiens; Sam Morgan, Verdun, veteran of this war and the last one, wounded at Second Ypres and Dieppe.

Chateau Frontenac Again World War Center

Within the massive walls of the Chateau Frontenac and nearby Quebec Citadel, plans were laid over a year ago for the events which this year resulted in the invasion of Europe and its subsequent sweeping victory of France. Prime Minister Winston Churchill and President Franklin D. Roosevelt, along with their chiefs of staff both military and political, conferred with such success in Canada's oldest city that now they are meeting again, just a little over a year later. Today's plans have to do with final crushing of Nazi Europe, and the stepping-up of the next great task, elimination of the Japanese Empire as a world force.

During these days, the eyes of the world, United Nations, our enemies, and hundreds of thousands of peoples in still-bondaged Occupied lands, are focused on Canada and the figures which are shaping the world's destiny. It is a tribute to Canada and its people that this country has been chosen for a second conference, and the civilized world will await with patience and confidence the benefits that must surely accrue.

Anglican Church Prepares To Meet Post-War Problems

The Diocese of Calgary will face a rehabilitation problem of its own with the cessation of hostilities. Returning chaplains must be replaced in Diocesan work. Country parishes long vacant have to be re-manned. Clergy houses must be set up in the scattered areas of the Diocese.

At present more than half of the parishes ministered to by mission clergy in this Diocese are without clergymen. This condition, although it has been created by the demands of war, must be deeply regretted by every member of the church, and must be altered as speedily as circumstances permit.

These urgent needs of the church will call for funds. It is estimated that $50,000 will be the minimum requirement to meet the program for the next five years. A committee of laymen appointed by the Bishop of Calgary is issuing a call to all members and friends of the Anglican church in this Diocese to lend their support to this effort. With the heartening news of victories for our cause in Europe, this appeal has been appropriately named the Thanksgiving for Victory Campaign.

The Rt. Rev. H. R. Ragg, Bishop of Calgary, will speak to his church family over radio station CFCN at 10.15 o'clock each Tuesday evening in October; that is October 10, 17, 24 and 31. All Anglicans will want to understand and share in these problems affecting their church's ministry in this Diocese.

WEDDINGS

SMITH-BOWLING

Rev. Father O'Byrne officiated in the rectory of St. Mary's Cathedral, Calgary, Oct. 7, at 7.30 p.m. at the marriage of Muriel Alice Bowling, daughter of Mrs. W. J. Burns, of Calgary, and the late A. G. Bowling, of Coleman, and Lieut. Ian Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Smith, of Coleman.

The bride wore an afternoon dress of crepe pink dahlia with hat to match, long white kid gloves and pearls, the latter a gift from the groom. Her corsage was gardenias.

Miss Margaret Smith, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. She wore a pale blue dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was yellow roses.

The best man was Lieut. Donald Campbell, of Edmonton.

A reception for 35 guests was held at the bride's home. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Burns and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Smith received with the wedding party. Mrs. Burns wore light blue with a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Smith wore navy blue, and her corsage was red roses. Col. J. A. Macgregor, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom responded.

HONORED

Complimenting Miss Muriel Bowling, of Calgary, whose marriage to Lieut. Ian Smith, of Coleman, took place on Oct. 7, Mrs. Douglas Taylor, formerly of Coleman, entertained at a miscellaneous shower at her cozy suite on Tuesday evening. Autumn flowers decorated the rooms and gifts from the fifteen guests were presented to the guest of honor by Miss Molly Penn, of Medicine Hat.

Miss Ruth Laws, of Calgary, entertained in honor of Miss Muriel Bowling on Thursday evening. A tiered wedding cake centred the tea table, at which Mrs. W. J. Burns, mother of the bride-elect, performed tea honors. A decorated dolly's carriage contained gifts from the sixteen guests. A table lamp was also presented to the guest of honor.

Mrs. J. A. Macgregor, of Calgary, was a tea hostess on Wednesday, Oct. 4, in honor of Miss Muriel Bowling. Tea roses, flanked by cream tapers, centred the tea table, at which Mrs. W. J. Burns performed tea honors.

MASONS OF DISTRICT ARE IN SESSION HERE TODAY

Annual meeting of Masonic District 8, comprising lodges at Macleod, Pincher Creek, Cowley, Hillcrest, Blairmore and Coleman, will be convened in Coleman today, with afternoon and evening sessions.

Sessions will be in charge of Joe Emmerson, district deputy grand master, and besides delegates from the various lodges, attendance is expected from Wm. Ireland, grand master, of Calgary; G. H. Crane-Williams, deputy grand master, of Dinosaur, Alberta, and George Moore, grand secretary, of Calgary.

Between afternoon and evening sessions a banquet will be held in the IOOF hall at 6.15.

Joe Citizen Says--

Believe me, folks, inflation's not a thing for just a passing thought. The juggling of the nation's bills to save us from inflation's ills is something to be thankful for and sure has helped to win the war. The thing is though—it's not too late to rock the good old ship of state. Inflation STILL could take a hold—it will if buying's uncontrolled, and really all that we can buy and know they're not in short supply are bonds, and it's just common sense to buy them in our own defence. It can't be called a sacrifice—that bonds pay well there's none denies.

They draw a very nice per cent on money waiting to be spent when, Victory and Peace both won, some carefree spending can be done.

Soldiers' Letters

Lorney Makes Friends
With an Italian Family;
Gets Parcel From States.

The Journal:—

News once again has arrived from home in the way of The Journal, and I must say they are coming perfectly, and usually arrive in 3's. The news is most welcome and cheerful, and boy, it's really going to be nice to get back to the "old home town" again.

I was most pleased and surprised to be on the receiving end of a lovely parcel from an Italian family in the States whom I have not yet met, but have corresponded with just to do a good deed for a family that has treated me very well since I have been in this country.

You see, the family had not received or had been able to mail any letters for the past four or five years and, of course, I got very friendly with this family, and I must say all Italians in this country are very proud to have relatives either in Canada or the States, and their ambition is to go out there after the war is over. While talking with this particular family I found out all their troubles, and so I figured I could at least write and let those in the States know that all was well over here.

To my surprise, I got a letter back and took it to this family; and, boy, after explaining it to them I found I had made two of the happiest families in the world and since then I have written about four times to the States and taken back four perfect answers to all the questions asked by the family here.

I am always treated highly in this home—fried eggs and coffee is always served me every time I visit them. The parcel I received from the States was very nice and indeed a pleasant surprise, and the senders intend to see me after the war and thank me personally. I'm sure such a pleasant reward is not necessary, but it always shows one that kindness and thoughtfulness is always rewarded.

I must say, Rimini is taken now, and it won't take us long to scot across the Alps, and it appears that within a few months here we will see a well-earned victory.

We are anxiously awaiting our arrival in Coleman again and I must say we are really going to appreciate getting back.

I am corresponding with Roy Garrett. He is well, and I pass The Journals along to him. We are trying our best to meet for the first time after three years, but with no success.

Thanks to the Welfare Fund. The cigarettes are arriving 100%.

Best regards to the Garrett family. Hello, Mom and Dad! Cheer up! I'll be home soon.

Lorney Caroe.

Elks Have Donated $58,000 To Save The Children Fund

Since adopting the Save the Children fund as their war charity in 1942, the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of Canada and Newfoundland have donated more than $58,000. This figure, however, won't represent the sum total of their contributions, as it was voted during the last Elks' convention not only to continue support of the fund, but to increase it. The Order has guaranteed the maintenance of one of the fund's 25 residential nurseries for several years.

Save the Children fund has also won the heart of the Loblaws employees' aid to Britain club, which donated $1,500 towards operation of one of the junior clubs, the Hopscotch Inn, at London, for approximately a year.

Many other Canadian groups are appreciative of the enormous tasks which await the fund when war-swept lands are liberated. The Sunday schools and church young people societies throughout Canada, as well as the Quebec committee of the fund, are currently making a special effort to obtain further assistance.

Robot bombing has increased the demands upon the resources of the fund. During the evacuation of London, fund officials were dependent on generous contributions in order to help in the care of a daily exodus of some 2,000 children. Canadian contributors have played an important part in saving these citizens of tomorrow.

Help your country to victory—enlist now!

Take this First Step to Success in Post-war Aviation

Every boy who yearns to ride the skyways... in service crafts or civilian... can get away to a flying start through becoming an Air Cadet. Under qualified instructors he will receive competent training in the fundamentals so vital to aviation success.

In the post-war years ahead qualified Air Cadets will receive preference for R.C.A.F. appointments. Civilian aviation companies will be especially alert to the qualifications of Air Cadets. But whether or not you plan aviation as your career, you'll find your associations with the Air Cadets interesting, fascinating and plenty of fun.

Canada's Naval Power

CANADIANS HAVE WATCHED, with pride and interest, the rapid expansion of the Royal Canadian Navy during the past five years. Before the war, it comprised only about a dozen ships, while the personnel numbered around 1,700. Now there are hundreds of ships and the Canadian Naval personnel consists of around 100,000 men. Canada is now rated as the fourth largest sea power in the world. Britain, the United States and Japan have navies larger than ours, but with the inevitable elimination of Japan from this list it is apparent that Canada will soon move up to third place. This rapid growth in naval prestige is a remarkable one, for it has meant a great increase not only in the numbers of men and ships, but in naval bases, ship yards and the many other requisites necessary to keep a powerful navy afloat.

Record Is A Splendid One

The record of the Royal Canadian Navy in combat is a splendid one. Recent information given out by Mr. Macdonald, Minister of the Navy, pointed out that 109 Canadian ships participated in the invasion of Europe, 10,000 of our sailors taking part in the largest single convoy which ever crossed the ocean was moved by the Canadian Navy. This convoy consisted of 150 ships, and carried more than a million tons of vital materials to the war fronts. During the past summer North Atlantic convoy duty was carried out entirely by Canadian ships, and in addition the Canadian Navy is credited with sinking 13 surface ships, and 15 submarines, and has captured or damaged 17 enemy ships. It has also taken part, with ships of other Allied nations, in the destruction of many enemy craft.

Fine Tradition Has Been Made

Although the navy has grown with gratifying speed during the past few years, it is not intended that this development shall cease when the war is over. Canada has established a tradition as a naval power which she will endeavour to maintain in the post-war years. Existing plans provide for a permanent naval force of some 9,000 men, but the Naval Minister suggested in his report that this number should be raised to 15,000 and that our fleet should consist of two airplane carriers, two cruisers, and light destroyers. This would call for an annual expenditure of $50,000,000 which might be considered a large item in a peacetime budget. That will be a matter to be decided later. At present the people of Canada may feel justifiably proud of the part their navy has played in defeating the Axis powers.

Had A History

This Bible Goes Through Battle In Two Wars

A father and son in the service of their country met recently at camp of the New York Port of Embarkation.

"Guess what I've here?" the son asked as he greeted his father, Master Sgt. Galen Swank, of Congers, N.Y., formerly of Minneapolis, Minn., and a top kick in the first A.E.F. With that, the son, Staff Sgt. Marcell Swank, produced a Bible, bloody and sweat-stained, which his father had carried while fighting in the Argonne Forest in the last war.

When young Swank went overseas, his father gave him the Bible. It was with the son during nine bloody hours at Dieppe and when wounded by shrapnel, he was pulled aboard a British destroyer.

Swank recovered, and, taking the Bible along, went to North Africa. He was at El Guettar in Tunisia when his outfit received the Presidential citation. Next came Sicily and Salerno and then the drive through Italy. Finally, Swank and his battered Bible were returned home.

IMPLEMENT FACTORY

Canadian Co-operative Implements, Ltd., has purchased the machinery and farm hardware factory operated by the Gregg Manufacturing Co., Winnipeg, according to a report from J. B. Brown, president of the purchasing company. The price was approximately $400,000. Mr. Brown also intimated that the prairie provincial governments would help finance the deal to the extent of $250,000. The C.C.I. is composed of farmers of the three prairie provinces.

The Netherlands has contributed more than 2,000,000 tons to the shipping pool created by the United Nations.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—Are there any coupons valid now in Ration Book No. 3?

A.—Canning sugar coupons "pr" numbered one to ten in book three are still valid and will not expire until December 31.

Q.—Now that restrictions are lifted on tea and coffee, will it be possible to have a second serving of tea or coffee?

A.—If they wish, restaurants may now serve their customers a second cup of coffee or pot of tea. However, because of the limited supplies of cream and sugar, no additional quantities of these products will be made available to restaurants. No extra sugar will be provided for the extra serving and cream will be provided for only one serving. However, milk may be provided for one or more servings. Coupons intended for tea and coffee will be included in ration book five but will not be used. These ration books were printed before tea and coffee rationing restrictions were lifted.

Q.—On what date does the age of an automobile change?

A.—Your car became one year older on October 1st which is regarded as the beginning of the new model year for automobiles and trucks.

Q.—Is it necessary to have the baby's birth or baptismal certificate before application is made for a ration book?

A.—Parents must still apply at a local ration board for their baby's ration book, but they no longer need to present the baby's birth or baptismal certificate as long as they have the doctor's or the hospital superintendent's signature on a statutory declaration. These declarations will be issued at the hospital.

"I ended constipation this easy way"

"I certainly do know how good ALL-BRAN is for constipation or the Blue Book and I'm sticking to it. Now, I'm done with harsh purgatives that never seemed to do all I wanted. I'm keeping regular the better way—by eating ALL-BRAN every day."

If your constipation is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every day, as a cereal or in several hot muffins, and drink plenty of water. Remember—ALL-BRAN is a delicious, nutritious cereal—not a medicine. Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. 2 handy sizes. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

Security Enforced

Before Canadians launched their all-out attack on the Gothic Line in Italy, security was rigidly enforced. They took down their "Canada" badges and regimental flashes. When the Nazi thought they were still in front of Cassino, the Canadians suddenly appeared before Florence and struck the vaunted Gothic Line. All towns during the security period were "out of bounds" to the Canucks. Picture shows the prank of one of the Canadian regiments after the security ban was lifted.

A Lucky Waiter

Received Big Tip Because Man Did Not Make Mistakes

One Christmas morning James Gordon Bennett, the New York newspaper publisher, presented the waiter who always served him breakfast at Delmonico's with a small roll of currency. When the waiter examined it later, he was shocked. The roll contained six $1,000 bills! Believing that Mr. Bennett must have made a mistake, he turned the money over to his employer, who looked it in his safe. The next morning, when the publisher appeared, Mr. Delmonico took him aside and held out the six bills. "Of course, you made a mistake yesterday, Mr. Bennett," he said quietly. But the publisher suddenly bristled with anger. Rising to his full height, he exclaimed, "Mr. Delmonico, I must ask you to give that money back at once to your man. By this time you ought to know that James Gordon Bennett never makes a mistake!"

BUTTER FAT SPREAD

The tropical butter-fat spread, manufactured from creamy butter in Australia and New Zealand, does not melt at a temperature below 105 degrees F. Even if it should melt at higher temperatures, the spread can be re-incorporated by stirring. It has proved a boon to troops in the Pacific.

Forward March

It may not be the roll of Drake's drum that Probationary Wrens hear during their training on board H.M.C.S. Conestoga, training establishment of the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service in Galt, but it sounds pretty much like it to Navy ears. Lorraine McAuley of Winnipeg, Man., and Joan McMaster of Orangeville, Ont., were the first to obtain permission to learn the drums; it was granted somewhat hesitantly, but now there is nothing but enthusiasm for the drummers' contribution to morning Division, and march pasts or official inspection of the several hundred Wrens-in-training. McAuley and McMaster have recently left Galt to take officers' training, but other Wrens have become proficient in the drummer's art. The Wren behind the big bass drum is Grace Prestley of Regina, Sask.

Remember Our Sailors

Much Work To Be Done After Germany Is Defeated

Almost everywhere, it seems, there is talk of what we will do to celebrate when the war with Germany and her European allies is over.

It is going to be tremendously hard, if we have an official celebration of the defeat of Germany taking place on the same day in all Allied countries, to regard the war with Japan as anything but a secondary cleaning-up of the war mess.

And yet we in Canada, cannot afford to think that way when we remember the statement of the Allied leaders that, in response to demands by our Prime Minister, Canada is to be allowed to participate in the war against Japan in the proportion of her population amongst the other Allied countries' populations.

We have bitter fighting yet to do after Germany is cleaned up and our sailors and merchant seamen will be directly concerned in it. Young lads now in training in Canada's navies will, presumably, man ships operating over the Pacific either fighting the Jap naval menace or conveying merchant ships manned by Canadian merchant seamen.

The Navy League know that our men of the seas must be looked after for a long while to come and that is why they are still seeking dirty bags in the scores of thousands, magazines in the millions, woollens in the hundreds of thousands for the seamen and sailors who, when Germany is licked, will still go on fighting.

We mustn't let down on our care for and service to them.

LEISURE TIME—

Uncle Sam's Army played gallant host recently to two Vancouver members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps, Sgt. Edna Mitchell of Vancouver and Pte. Shirley Granger of Kimberley, B.C. These young women were the first CWACs to visit the U.S. Army Recreation Camp at Santa Monica, California, and the Americans were lavish in their hospitality to the Canadian soldierettes. The pair have now returned to their Vancouver posts, but are finding it difficult to settle down after 14 days holiday mid the wonders of Southern California, palm trees, tropical beaches, and the close proximity of the film famous. They were guests during their entire visit at the Santa Monica camp and ate at the camp canteen.

It was a dramatic day in the life of 2nd-Lieut. Therese Vanier, C.W.A.C. of Montreal, when she was posted from England to Paris. Not only was she one of the first C.W.A.C. officers to enter the French capital, but the posting brought a re-union with her father, and a return to the city she was forced to flee when the Germans marched in, in 1940. She is the daughter of Major-General George P. Vanier, Canadian Ambassador-Designate to the French Provisional Government. After her escape from France in a cattle boat, Lieut. Vanier enlisted in the Mechanized Transport Corps, a British voluntary organization, and worked with the Fighting French. In June, 1943, she transferred to the C.W.A.C. and served in London as a private and non-commissioned officer. She recently received her commission.

ARMY PETS—

Latest fad in the Dominion of CWACDOM is animals—the stuffed variety. A visit to a CWAC barracks in London, Ont., revealed many interesting and ornamental "pets" propped on the beds of the Army girls. For example, there was "Muddles" a slap-happy plush kitten daintily dressed in a blue and white striped sweater, blue trousers and a perky yellow bow under his chin. Next door was "Peachy", a canine species, made entirely of peach colored yarn with shoe button eyes. Other pets include everything from cuddly teddy bears to naughty-looking pandas. Every morning after smoothing their top blankets to perfection for the critical eye of the orderly officer, the girls place their colorful pets on their bunks and dash off to work.

Carrot leaves once were believed to be so decorative that English ladies of Queen Elizabeth's time wore them in their hair in place of feathers.

Britain Hardest Hit

France Is Emerging From War With Comparatively Little Damage

It is a strange fact that materially and economically, as well as in actual war casualties to personnel, France will probably emerge from this struggle far more lightly than Britain, comments a London correspondent of the Ottawa Journal. Yet France has been four years under the German jackboot, and Britain has happily escaped that ordeal. In actual war devastation, whether by bomb or shell, there can be no comparison between the damage wrought to French and British cities. Paris is virtually intact. London is festooned with ruins. More than 50,000 of the British civilian population have been killed and about the same total seriously injured, not to count a far larger number of minor casualties. British casualties in the fighting services have been far heavier than those of France. Britain has exhausted not only her overseas credits but her gold reserve. France has a very substantial gold reserve. In fact France will, economically at all events, be in a far more comfortable position when peacetime problems have to be met, than Great Britain. Nobody grudges France her many advantages, but it is only right that there should be no illusion about the facts.

Changes Made In Clocks At Greenwich Royal Observatory

The Astronomer Royal, Sir Harold Spencer Jones, is replacing the pendulum clocks at the Greenwich Royal Observatory with quartz crystal chronometers, accurate to 1-10,000th part of a second a day. The new method has been of great value in the work at Greenwich and important in checking service instruments. The wireless time regulators are now controlled by it.

CANADIAN HEAVY BOMBERS MAKE CONCENTRATED ATTACK ON GERMAN SUBMARINE NESTS

LONDON.—R.C.A.F. heavy bombers made a concentrated attack on German submarines and submarine pens at Bergen, Norway, the air ministry announced.

One of the group of fighter-escorted Lancasters and Halifaxes failed to return.

The weather was clear and the concentrated attack was accurate, the communiqué said.

Since the loss of U-boat bases in western France, Bergen has become the most advanced German submarine lair, and when the French ports were taken by the Allies those Nazi submarines then at sea were obliged to seek refuge at Bergen.

U-boat pens at Bergen still under construction were among the Canadian targets.

Approximately 150 heavy American bombers plastered the railyards at Munich and also attacked numerous points on the Brenner Pass line and other railway lanes leading into northern Italy.

R.A.F. Mosquito bombers attacked 31 trains, 20 barges and 25 motor transports in Germany and Holland, and bombed Kassel, after more than 1,000 American daylight bombers pestered important industrial targets in southern Germany.

The Ruhr is reported to be completely isolated now by waterway, both from the North sea and from central and eastern Germany, following the wrecking of the Dortmund-Ems canals by British bombers. The air ministry called it the "most important air attack on German communications so far."

European-based medium bombers struck Dortmund near Metz. Associated Press War Correspondent Edward D. Ball reported they had a field day against enemy communications deep behind the Siegfried line. Fighter-bombers shot up 50 motor transports, 29 locomotives and 150 freight cars, bombed three tunnels and cut railroad lines in 24 places.

CANNOT SERVE

No Alien Born Person Need Apply For UNRRA Jobs

OTTAWA, Ont.—Persons born in enemy countries will not be employed by UNRRA to administer relief and rehabilitation of those areas in the world devastated by war.

While some limited recruiting of staff for the 44-nation relief organization is at present in progress in Canada, it is learned reliably that applications will not be considered from persons born in Germany, Italy, Rumania, Japan and other enemy countries. It is the purpose of the relief organization to employ only persons not connected in any way with an enemy country.

INCREASED ACTIVITY

OTTAWA.—Increased industrial activity was reflected in employment figures at Aug. 1, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported. While the number of persons added to payrolls was above normal according to pre-war experience, it was below the Aug. 1 increase in any of the last five years.

ANNOUNCEMENT IS MADE OF HONOR AWARDS BY SOVIET RUSSIA FOR ALLIED LEADERS

LONDON.—The Moscow radio announced that the Soviet government had awarded the Order of Suvorov, First Class, to Field Marshal Montgomery, commander of the British 21st Army group on the western front.

The order, bestowed by the president of the Supreme Soviet of the U.S.S.R., is the highest army decoration given to any person outside the Soviet Union.

In addition, it was awarded to Lord Beaverbrook, lord privy seal, and to Oliver Lyttelton, minister of production "for the important roles they have played in the struggle against the common enemy," and to Lt.-Gen. Mark Clark, commander of the United States 5th Army in Italy.

The broadcast said the Order of Kutuzov, First Class, had been awarded to Air Marshal Sir Trafford Leigh-Mallory, commander-in-chief of the Allied Expeditionary Air Forces, and to Lt.-Gen. Omar N. Bradley, commander of the 12th United States

BIG WHEAT SUPPLIES

Canada May Furnish Wheat For Australian Markets

OTTAWA.—Ottawa officials saw the possibility that wheat from Canadian and United States surpluses may be used to supply countries which normally look to Australia for their requirements.

In Sydney, Australia, drought conditions, described by commerce minister William Scully as the "most tragic in Australia's recent history," may cut the wheat crop to not more than 48,000,000 bushels, lowest since 1914, and most states will have the greatest difficulty in meeting production goals for many types of foodstuffs, the minister said.

Australia normally supplies New Zealand wheat needs and in addition has shipped to China and East Indian territories in peace. Shipments also were made to the United Kingdom with some sales to European countries.

Under peace conditions exports often ran from 100,000,000 to 150,000,000 bushels annually.

During the war the United Kingdom has been a leading purchaser of Australian wheat for war areas.

Both Canada and the United States have abundant wheat supplies this year and areas usually supplied by Australia can be provided with whatever they need if shipping can be arranged.

SALVAGED CARGO

Canadian Soldiers Recovered Jeeps And Trucks From Ransomed Ship

HALIFAX.—Seagoing soldiers of the Canadian army have salvaged $250,000 worth of American military equipment from a Liberty ship ransomed off Halifax harbor and made it ready for battle in record time.

Working in 19 feet of water, men of No. 1 port company recovered 26 jeeps and 15 huge trucks from the hold of the partially submerged ship, and they were repaired in Halifax shops of the Royal Canadian electrical and mechanical engineers.

The soldiers swung into action a few hours after the Liberty ship had been in collision.

MAY BE MARCH

Deadline Passed For Calling Of Federal Election This Year

OTTAWA.—The deadline has now passed for the calling of a federal election this year. As a result, the date favored in Ottawa speculation is next March.

No prospect now exists of an election in November, in view of the timing provided for in the election act. Political circles have ruled out December, January and February as likely election months, unless an unforeseen crisis arises.

Some talk is heard here that parliament will be called again for a brief session prior to an election next spring.

AIR MINISTER POWER HAS FURNISHED DETAILS OF THE HUGE AIR TRAINING PLAN

OTTAWA.—Air Minister Power disclosed in an interview for the first time full details of the big commonwealth air training plan which had graduated 114,253 aircrew members for the war period up to Aug. 25.

Of the total number of graduates from the "airdrome of democracy," 60,503 were R.C.A.F. personnel, 39,657 R.A.F., of which a small number were Royal Navy fleet air arm pilots; 8,067 R.A.A.F. and 6,026 R.N.Z.A.F.

Giving statistics showing total cost of the plan had amounted to $2,304,000,000, he said Canada laid out $1,631,000,000 in cash and of this amount a total of $442,500,000 was recoverable from Britain.

He added: "Negotiations now are under way designed to provide the United Kingdom government the means of liquidating this account." He did not elaborate but a possibility was that mutual aid might enter into the settlement.

Australia and New Zealand have made a total cash contribution of $207,000,000.

The original plan called for a peak aircrew production of 20,864 annually. With expansion of the program in 1941, the sights were raised to a planned peak of 52,503, to be reached by June of this year.

An actual peak rate was reached in February when 11,000 training planes were in use and 3,699 aircrew graduated for an annual rate of 50,700. But a new agreement between Canada and Britain in the same month lowered the objective to a rate of 20,865.

Because of the time-lag, Major Power explained, "and the fact that aircrew now are training to meet requirements 18 months hence, the actual production during August was approximately 3,215, or at an annual rate of 38,864. The lower rate will be reached next spring."

The cumulative total of trainees from all sources entered on aircrew training courses from the inauguration of the plan in April, 1940, to Aug. 25 was 158,221, of whom 114,253 graduated and 20,109 failed and became ground crewmen or went to other services.

Today there are 23,859 men in aircrew training, and of this total 13,856 are R.C.A.F. personnel. Major Power explained:

"It should be noted that personnel now commencing training remain in the plan for an average of 12 months and after graduation they require a further period of post-graduate and operational training and familiarization of from six to eight months. On the average a period of 18 to 20 months elapsed between the time an airman commences aircrew training and the day he fires his first shot at the enemy. Statistics of present training production should therefore be considered in the light of the fact that the plan now is operating in anticipation of what may be our requirements one and one-half years hence."

CANADIANS WERE INVOLVED IN SUCCESSFUL NAVAL ACTION ON THE NORWEGIAN COAST

OTTAWA.—The first action involving a Canadian-manned aircraft carrier was reported here when a navy release told of "successful operations" against the Norwegian coast in August, in which the carrier Nabob and the Canadian destroyers Sioux and Algonquin participated with units of the British home fleet.

The Nabob and her sister ship, Puncher, are manned with Canadian sea-crews but are Royal Navy ships and have fleet air arm aircrews on board. The Nabob commanded by Prime Minister Mackenzie King's nephew—Capt. Horatio Nelson Lay—was first in the news in the spring when she ran ashore leaving Vancouver.

The aircraft which operated from the carriers attacked enemy shipping and shore installations in the Norwegian waters between Alesund and Christiansund North. Aircraft hangars and a number of large storehouses at an enemy airfield at Gosen were heavily attacked and set on fire.

Fighter escort for the heavier planes had a field day. Six enemy planes were destroyed on the ground and a seventh damaged. Navy planes attacked other targets in the Lofsen area.

Three armed vessels were attacked in the same area, two bursting into flames. The cost of the striking force was two aircraft missing.

The Nabob's air unit, the Avenger bombers and they completed two strikes on the coast without a hitch. Enemy flak was observed on the second strike but the group did not come under attack.

Lt.-Cmdr. R. E. Bradshaw, a Briton who joined the Nabob with his squadron at San Francisco in February, had words of praise for the ship aircraft landing parties, entirely composed of Canadians.

"They handled the machines smartly," he said, "and they showed the greatest keenness throughout the operation."

Destroyers and cruisers formed a tight and unbreakable screen for the big carriers. If there were any enemy U-boats or aircraft in that area, they did not appear. Minutes after the last of the attackers had dropped its wheels on deck, the British and Canadian warships were heading back to their base.

BRITAIN'S DEBTS

Will Never Return To The Gold Standard, Says Sir John Anderson

LONDON.—Sir John Anderson, chancellor of the exchequer, declared that Britain would never return to the gold standard as such, but pledged that she would join with the United States in seeking to eliminate "all forms of discrimination in international commerce."

He announced also that a lord mayor's luncheon that Britain is the fifth and most financially costly year of the war, had met a higher proportion of expenditure out of current tax revenue than in any of the previous four years.

"Our external debts do not fill me with dismay," he said, "although I would not like to contemplate what they might have been but for that financial miracle 'lend-lease' and the most generous war contributions of Canada."

PRODUCTION NEEDED

LONDON.—Taking to task those suggesting that Germany be turned into an agricultural state after the war, The Times of London said that German production "must be raised to its highest point and modelled and organized on lines which will make it a useful constituent of European economy."

You hold the mortgage
You collect the interest

A Victory Bond is a mortgage on Canada... all of this country's resources guarantee payment of principal and interest. And money you lend to Canada, when you buy Victory Bonds, is the safest investment you can make.

You can borrow on Victory Bonds for seasonal farm requirements or any bank will pay cash for your bonds should you need cash at any time.

Money is a vital war weapon. Canada needs every dollar that every Canadian can save and lend... more than ever before. As the war increases in intensity, Canada's need for money increases, too. Our country's all-over borrowing needs are increased by over three hundred and twenty million dollars at this time. We must each be ready to lend again, and to lend more.

Thousands of small grains make a bushel of wheat. So with the money that Canada must borrow, from Canadians, to pay for the war: small sums loaned by individuals mount up to billions.

Lend all you can... money you have saved and money you can save... but do not think that small loans are unimportant. Put your savings into mortgages on Canada—marketable mortgages. You will be doing a worthwhile war job... and you will get your money back... with interest.

Victory Bonds will provide cash for farm improvements you plan to make when the war ends... new buildings... new machinery... better stock... cash to pay on a new car or a new home.
